

HOW DO YOU?

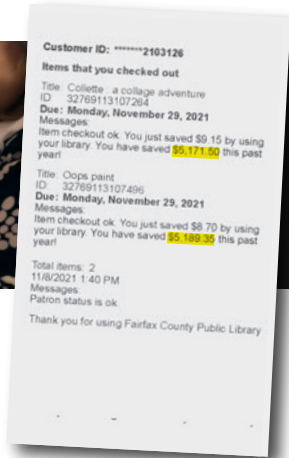

There are almost as many ways to love the Fairfax County Public Library as there are people who use it. Long gone are the days of libraries being primarily hushed rooms filled with endless rows of bookshelves. Of course, the bookshelves are still here, but today's library offers so much more for so many more people. We've introduced the hashtag #loveyourlibrary to highlight some of the less-traditional ways that Fairfax County residents are enjoying FCPL's services—and how the generosity and support of people like you make it possible.

Spring, Summer, Fall, Winter, each 8" x 18" Mulberry paper and acrylic collage with photo transfer.

“The library has been a huge resource for connecting with the work of other artists and nature writers. Their words and observations influence my own time spent in nature, and therefore my artwork. The voices and images I enjoy through books help me to feel connected to others even while staying apart.”

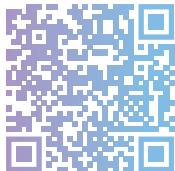

Above: FCPL Director Jessica Hudson reads Oops Paint aloud to her daughter. Right: Every FCPL patron receives a receipt at checkout that includes a tally of how much they've saved to date by using the library.

Kathryn Coneway is an Alexandria, Virginia-based mixed-media visual artist, author, and educator. She frequently exhibits her work at her local FCPL branch: the Martha Washington Library, and is the author and illustrator of two books for children: Collette: A Collage Adventure and Oops Paint, copies of which can be found in FCPL's collection.

#loveyourlibrary

HOW DO YOU?

#loveyourlibrary

Fairfax
Library FOUNDATION

12000 Government Center Parkway, Suite 329
Fairfax, VA 22035-0059
www.fairfaxlibraryfoundation.org

